By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Judge William E. Miller is being considered for the Supreme Court, according to a source familiar with the matter.

Miller, 54, is a federal judge in the Eastern District of Tennessee. He has been on the bench since 1964. He is known for his conservative views and his role in the desegregation of schools in the South.

Miller's health has been a concern. He has suffered from a heart attack in 1967 and has been hospitalized several times since then.

He is considered a strong contender for the Supreme Court. His appointment would be a significant move for the President, given his reputation and the political climate.

Miller's appointment would also be a statement on the President's judicial philosophy. It would show a commitment to conservative values and a strong federal government.

For instance, he spends long hours in the courtroom trying cases. He is known for his thoroughness and his ability to handle complex legal issues.

There are two conflicting rumors current in the capital about the filling of the vacant seat on the high court.

One rumor has it that Nixon already has made his choice, which will be announced in less than a week.

The second rumor is that the field has narrowed to three men — Miller, Justice Louis H. Burke outs from Vietnam between mid-April and possibly July.

Withdrawals which began last summer will reach a net of about 100,000 by mid-April. Officials have hinted at another increase, perhaps in the 50,000 range, in the ensuing three or four months.

Such a development would bring the U.S. commitment in Vietnam below 400,000.

And the 300,000 man rollback would bring the total U.S. troop strength down to about 3,155,000.

Because of the force reductions, the draft already has been reduced from about 290,000 last year to an anticipated 225,000 this year. Further force cuts could carry the total draft call below 225,000.

War Deaths Drop With Bombing Halt

By GEORGE ESPEY
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — The rate of American battlefield deaths has declined by one third since the United States stopped bombing North Vietnam, despite the fears of many military men that casualties would rise.

During the 62 weeks since President Lyndon B. Johnson stopped the bombing on Nov. 1, 1968, a total of 10,958 Americans have been reported killed in action. In the 62 weeks before, 16,463 American battlefield deaths were reported.

The Saigon government's forces report an increase, however, from 17,885 combat dead in the earlier period to 19,771 in the past 62 weeks.

Official sources say the main reason Americans suffered higher casualties before the bombing halt was that three major offensives were launched by the enemy in February, May and August 1968. Since the bombing was stopped, there has been only one offensive which the Americans class as "major," the post-Tet offensive of February 1969, after the lunar new year festival.

Allied headquarters reported today that 17 south Vietnamese and one American were killed during fighting triggered by a Viet Cong attack Thursday night on a government refugee camp 75 miles southeast of Da Nang. The dead included 14 civilian refugees, three government troops and an American Marine. Four enemy were known dead, a spokesman said.

The attack was the second in less than two weeks against the hamlet of Chau Thuan, which is five miles northeast of My Lai, scene of the Viet Cong alleged massacre of civilians by U.S. troops nearly two years ago.

Field reports said some of the enemy broke into the hamlet, hurling dynamite bombs and firing their weapons at houses. Twenty houses were reported destroyed.

Eight rounds of enemy mortars fell in the hamlet on Jan. 6, killing 14 civilians and three government pacification workers.

Spokesmen said the attacks apparently are an attempt to convince the people that the South Vietnamese government cannot protect them.

Elsewhere, North Vietnamese troops wounded 27 American Air Cavalrymen Thursday night in a five-minute attack with grenades and machine gun and rifle fire 92 miles northeast of Saigon. The Americans were camped for the night along a major enemy supply route.

In Saigon, Sen. Tran Van Don, one of President Nguyen Van Thieu's most outspoken opponents, started a new opposition movement seeking a middle-of-the-road path for Vietnam after the war.

Don and other leaders of the new People's Bloc declared themselves in "loyal opposition" to Thieu. A printed manifesto said the bloc "advocates a policy of cooperation with other peoples on an equal basis while avoiding at all costs policies that might lead to enslaving the people and transforming the nation into a satellite of other powers."

"The same thing is true of shopping. You won't need cities as shopping places. You'll simply dial the store—and the store would probably be more efficient in a cornfield than in a city—and select from items the salesman shows you over the picture phone. Actually, right now you can think of any good reasons for keeping old cities and building new ones—except to give jobs to unnecessary politicians."

"But if man now flees to a home in the suburbs to get away from it all in the city, Alife, when the time comes that it's all at home, won't he then find it necessary to flee back to the city to get away from it all?"

"Oh, shut up," said Alife crossly, as the train slowed. "Here's where we get off."

Birthday of Late Dr. King Observed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Memorial services, marches and other tributes across the nation have marked the 41st anniversary of the birth of slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr.

In Atlanta at the dedication of the Martin Luther King Memorial Center, King's widow stood in a light drizzle Thursday with her four children before King's burial crypt and listened to speeches praising her husband.

After the speeches, Mrs. King and the children softly sang "We Shall Overcome"—the civil rights hymn her husband made famous. Standing in a muddy field next to Ebenezer Baptist Church, she laid a wreath of red and white carnations topped with a white dove on the crypt.

Hundreds of persons attended the services.

Five states and several cities declared the day an official holiday.

the poverty workers' homes would aid in its probe of rioting in Nashville, Tenn., in April 1967.

Investigators for the committee said McSurely and other Kentucky program workers had attended a meeting in Nashville of several poverty, civil rights and political groups a day before the riots broke out.

Out of the McSurelys refusal to provide the material subpoenaed by the subcommittee, or to testify, came the contempt of Congress charges. They were indicted by a federal grand jury last August.

Meanwhile, the McSurelys filed suit against McClellan and the committee, asking $300,000 in damages for alleged violations of their constitutional rights of free speech and freedom from unwarranted search and seizure.

The material, eventually returned by Kentucky authorities to the McSurelys, was subpoenaed by the committee while still held by state officials.

The 6th U.S. Court of Appeals, later upheld by the Supreme Court, ruled the subpoena invalid because the material was seized under a law later declared unconstitutional. The McClellan committee then issued another subpoena.

G.E. Union Chief Denies Harassment

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Dick Bridger, president of Local 747 of the International Union of Electrical Workers, denied Thursday allegations that union members had harassed vehicles moving to and from the General Electric Co. plant.

A motion filed Wednesday in Chancery Court at Jonesboro said union members had committed harassment despite a court order forbidding such action by the striking union members.

The nationwide strike began last Oct. 26. GE has begun hiring workers to replace those on strike.

The charges of rock-throwing, mass picketing and other allegations are untrue, Bridger said.

He said it was his understanding, after consultation with lawyers for GE, that more than six picketers could be at a picket site at any one time.

Bridger said a lawyer for GE had told him that up to eight, 10 or 12 could be a site when traffic at the plant was not

ONE-CHILD FAMILIES BOON TO MANKIND?

Dear Helen: There's an obvious rebuttal for those parents who have only one child and are chided about it.

When people ask, "How about another and when?" they should point out that many of the world's major problems: Famine, disease, war, poverty and pollution are directly or indirectly due to over-population, and those willing to limit their families should be highly commended.

Within the next ten years our society will gradually wake up to the fact that "population pollution" is our number one problem. Hopefully, women around the world will no longer feel that they must produce unwanted children to make a pretense of serving a useful purpose. —JOHN

Dear Helen: May I add my two cents worth on movie ratings? To refer to such trash as

"adult" pictures demeans the word "adult". All adults don't want to see such junk as they are showing. I think they should mark a lot of those "X" pictures as "S" for Slobs! —DISGUSTED ADULT

Dear D.A.: Or "D" for Dirty—but then the lines would be twice as long.—H.

Dear Helen: I read this in a highly accredited journal of medicine, and it was written by a well-known doctor and researcher:

"For moralists who worry about the automobile, it should be pointed out that in Kinsey's soldier informant group there was almost as high a percentage who had had sex relations in a horse and buggy."

Could this be true?—DOUBTER

Dear Doubter: According to Kinsey—yes, but let's remember that statistics can be used as a drunk uses a lamp post: More to lean on than to shed light.

What Kinsey reported—and it's still true today—is that "your place or mine" is more popular than four-wheeled bed-rooms, and the car isn't the main culprit in the so-called sex revolution.

For that matter, Kinsey's figures, compared with 1968 research at Stanford and other uni-

U.S. Plans Monitors on Integration

By G. C. THELEN Jr.
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a fast ride as the government's chief and most visible desegregation agent in the South, the Office for Civil Rights is aiming for a new and more diversified role in the fight against discrimination in schools.

In recent years the agency, a part of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, played a key role in desegregation by knocking schools in the pocketbooks for civil rights infractions.

Now that the federal courts have assumed the major responsibility for ending southern school segregation, officials in the civil rights office hope to take over as monitors of the courts' orders.

They also want to move against more subtle practices such as the firing of black teachers, the closing of Negro schools, the use of intelligence testing for pupil placement and the explosive growth of all-white private academies.

In addition, the HEW civil rights watchdogs talk of intensified excursions into the North and West against racial discrimination in colleges, de facto school segregation in big cities and unequal school treatment for Mexican-Americans.

"These are all questions that were overlooked in the rush to get kids out of all-black schools in the South," said one civil rights office official. "We're going to go after them now."

HEW's civil rights fortunes began changing in mid-1969. First the Nixon administration decreed government court litigation rather than termination of HEW aid was the more humane, if perhaps slower, way of ending southern school segregation.

Then a federal circuit court crimped HEW's termination procedures with the result that no districts have lost any federal aid since last July.

Finally, the Supreme Court handed down its integrate "at once" order causing a flurry of new litigation in the South.

Moreover, HEW is running out of places to wring desegregation plans with the threat of aid termination. Less than 300 of approximately 4,500 southern districts are still fair game. The remainder either have submitted versities indicate that the sex revolution remains more talk than action, with 74 percent of the girls and 62 percent of the men still virgins at age 20.

And while we're exploding myths, let's add one about marijuana. It's been said that the "majority" of college students smoke pot. How idiotic! The majority don't even smoke tobacco, (nor do they date regularly or otherwise "live it up" in the ways elders imagine).

A comprehensive survey at Sacramento State College which is fairly representative of the average college, indicates no more than 25 per cent of the students have even TRIED marijuana, much less smoke it regularly! —H.

P.S. More myths? How about these:

Myth: Venereal disease rates in the United States are at an all time high.

Fact: V.D. rates hit their highest point back in 1945 when there were five reported cases per every 1000 U.S. residents, as compared with around three per thousand in 1969.

Myth: Divorce rates are at an all time high.

Fact: That good old war year of 1945 topped them all. We also produced and consumed more hard liquor in 1945 than we have ever managed to do since.

Myth: Teen-age marriages are on the increase.

Fact: The median age for marriages has decreased less than one year in the last 50. It is still around age 23 for men; age 20 for girls.

Myth: Illegitimate births are on the increase.

Fact: While the illegitimate birth rate more than tripled from 1940 until 1969, for the last five years it has remained almost stationary.

Coincidentally, The Pill happened along in the early 1960s.

ted acceptable plans or have been lost from jurisdiction by coming under court order.

As a result, the HEW civil rights compliance lawyer is no longer the chief villain to southerners. That role is now assigned to federal judges and the HEW education specialists who fashion the controversial court orders for speedy desegregation.

The way HEW's civil rights chief Leon E. Panetta sees it, his office will become a quasi-arm of the federal courts to insure that desegregation injunctions are obeyed.

His staff will also begin backtracking to see that present and past HEW integration plans are being carried out fully, Panetta said.

HEW is expected to announce within weeks a major move against alleged discrimination in voting Spanish-speaking Mexican-Americans in southwestern schools.

Civil rights officials forecast important new moves, involving both court cases and aid terminations, in several heavily segregated northern school systems.

Pope Brushes Off Revolt of the Dutch

By GODFREY ANDERSON

LONDON (AP) — A survey of European countries shows that the Roman Catholic rule on priestly celibacy, the subject of deep controversy in some areas, faces little challenge among the clergy elsewhere.

The question was brought forward forcefully this month when the Dutch Pastoral Council, a national body of clergy and laity, voted 90-6 in favor of ending the obligation of celibacy as a condition for ordination. There were 100 abstentions—the bishop members of the council.

Pope Paul VI has called the rule against marriage an "incomparable treasure" of the Latin Church, and has lamented as "our crown of thorns" the current controversy. In 1967 he rejected any change in canon law on the subject.

Since celibacy is a matter of the Church's universal discipline, the consensus is that, even if the Dutch bishops and the council's recommendation their own, they cannot change the law even for Holland on their own responsibility.

But recent Dutch surveys have shown 72 per cent of Dutch Catholics, including clergy, want the celibacy rule ended.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

THOUGHTS

There are always people out there who are looking for a reason to be angry. There are always people out there who are looking for a reason to be happy. There are always people out there who are looking for a reason to be wise. There are always people out there who are looking for a reason to be good. There are always people out there who are looking for a reason to be great.

INSPIRATION

HAVE
GOD

What makes a champion? What is that extra force inherent in a great leader, teacher, musician, scientist, or a Christian? This extra force, this compelling quality, this something has a current all its own... out-shining our every-day efforts. It turns the common into the outstanding. It has been called "inspiration" and surely it must be just that. Want to possess it??? Of course! — then keep an open heart, a clear unprejudiced mind, clean body, and a receptiveness to the will and word of God. Learn of Him through regular church attendance and daily reading of His word. Only through God may we find this something, — this force, — this inspiration. "There is a spirit in man: and the inspiration of the Almighty giveth them understanding."

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG
Q-My husband and I have severe colds. What will relieve the headache and stuffiness that go with a cold?
A-The fact that your pharmacist carries some 50 or more cold remedies is a good indication that no single drug or drug combination is very effective. Otherwise, it would crowd the others off the market. Antihistamines and antibiotics are often used in "cold cures" but they are not recommended. Most cold remedies rely on aspirin or a similar pain killer and a nasal decongestant. These are often helpful but they should not be taken often than every four hours.
Q-In a recent column, you said that if a hemorrhoid contained a clot it should be removed. What would happen if it wasn't?
A-A hemorrhoid that contains a clot is very painful. Removal of the clot relieves the pain promptly. If the clot is not removed and if you can stand the pain that long, the inflammation may subside after two or three weeks, in which case the hemorrhoid will remain but will not be painful. Such a hemorrhoid may make the area harder to keep clean and the inflammation may flare up from time to time.
Q-In a recent column, you said crab lice were transmitted through sexual promiscuity. Both my wife and I have had them but we didn't get them that way. Please comment.
A-A crab, or pubic louse, attaches itself to a single hair with its claws. Its eggs, like those of the head louse, are cemented to a hair or to adjacent clothing. When the new crab hatches, it finds an unattached hair and assumes squatter's rights. In its whole life, it rarely travels more than two inches. Although sexual contact is the usual means of transmission, it is not the only way. The louse may move from one suit to another in a crowded gym locker room. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Football All-Stars in Final Game

By B. F. KELLUM
HOUSTON (AP) — The American Football League all-stars wound up practice today for the annual game Saturday that will signal the end of the league's 10-year existence.

Next season the AFL becomes the American Conference of the merged AFL and National Football Leagues.

Mike Telfer of Boston will start at quarterback for the East in the nationally televised Astro dome contest.

John Hadl will be the West's starting quarterback.

East coach George Wilson cleared up the quarterback situation Thursday when he officially gave the starting nod to Telfer.

All week he had been undecided between Telfer and Jack Kemp of Buffalo.

The league also honored its all-time heroes picked by the Pro Football Hall of Fame and rewarded the squads which will play in the all-star game.

K. S. (Bud) Adams, owner of the Houston Oilers and one of the founders of the league, passed out plaques to the all-time greats, including 11 who will participate in the all-star game and seven others who were on hand for the ceremonies.

Milt Woodward, president of the league, presented certificates to the all-star squads.

Members of the all-time team who also will participate in the all-star game include linebackers Bobby Bell, Kansas City; Nick Buoniconti, Miami; and George Webster, Houston; and Gerry Philbin, New York; cornerbacks Dave Grayson, Oakland, and Willie Brown, Denver; wide receiver Lance Alworth, San Diego; tackle Jim Tyrer, Kansas City; guards Billy Shaw, Buffalo and Ed Budde, Kansas City; and center Jim Otto, Oakland.

Also honored was Weeb Ewbank, coach of the New York Jets, who was named AFL coach of decade.

Back on the practice field following the awards ceremonies, Kemp and Telfer threw exceptionally well on deep passes to O. J. Simpson and Haven Moses of Buffalo as well as hitting Alvin Reed and Jim Belrine of Houston on the short to medium throws.

Jim Turner, New York's fine placekicker, also practiced but he indicated there were other

Damage Suit Possible in Pro Ball

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Namath and Len Dawson are having their lawyers look into the possibility of damage suits against persons responsible for naming them in a nationwide probe of gambling interests.

"This is guilty by implication," said Namath, quarterback of the New York Jets.

"It was a cruel thing," added Dawson, who led the Kansas City Chiefs to an upset 23-7 victory over the Minnesota Vikings last Sunday in the Super Bowl at New Orleans.

Both Namath and Dawson were mentioned in a list of sports personalities who, it was reported, will be summoned for questioning by government investigative forces working out of Detroit.

The report was made by the National Broadcasting Company, which said its information came from unnamed government officials.

Namath and Dawson, together for the taping of an American Broadcasting Company show reviewing the Super Bowl (Wide World of Sports, Saturday, 5-6:30 p.m. EST), both sharply criticized the loose usage of their names in connection with a gambling scandal.

Namath said he had turned the matter over to his attorneys.

Dawson said he had a conference with his lawyer Thursday afternoon before returning to Kansas City.

Hank Stram received a telephone call from President Nixon before the Super Bowl game in which the President said he knew of no substance to rumors that had been floating around before the game.

"Dismiss it from your mind and go out and play like champions," the President was quoted as saying to Stram.

The President telephoned Dawson after the game and congratulated the quarterback, who was voted the game's outstanding player.

On the television tape broadcast Thursday, both Namath and Dawson said they had received no subpoenas.

"This is guilty by implication," Namath said. "It was worse on Dawson than on me. He had a big game to play. He had a wife and family back in Kansas City. It must have upset them."

Dawson said, "I don't know what the reason was behind it. No matter what comes out, there are people who will believe what they want to believe. I have worked hard to do the right thing, to be an example to the youth of the country and my kids. I can't understand why this happened to me."

Bobcats to Entertain Lincoln Team

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

Starting off the "big weekend" with a bang, the Hope Bobcats entertained the state champion Camden Lincoln Tigers in the 4-A West opener tonight at Jones Field House, with the opening junior boys game commencing at 6:30 p.m.

Hope has never beaten Lincoln on the basketball court, losing by scores of 83-61, 42-33, 86-66, 61-46, and 104-46 here a year ago. The Tigers this campaign have lost only to Fairview by 55-45, in the finals of the Southern State Tournament.

With an 8-5 record the Bobcats start up in 4-A West, which could be the best basketball league in the state, Fairview has only lost to LR Central and Pine Bluff, Lincoln is the AA champion of Arkansas, Arkadelphia was runner-up in the Henderson Tourney and has only fallen to tough Ouachita, Pine Bluff and LR McEllean.

Then there's Malvern, breezing along at 12-1 with the only loss to the same Pine Bluff.

That leaves the Hope Bobcats, who were 4-20 and 0-10 in the division last winter.

Bobcat Coach John Ross will have to get a fine performance from his forces to win. That is no secret, for Lincoln is mad about losing 84-6 here in football season, and will likely go all-out pressing and trying for the stomp.

All that might eventually work to the Tigers' disadvantage, while Hope knows the good crowd will be partisan and quite vocal in a close game.

Lincoln will have 6-1 senior Donnie Davidson, an All-Star as a junior, and other net-poppers like Calvin Carroll, Robert Gully, and Larry Seals.

Hope should start the same group that was successful in the 77-62 win over Smackover last Saturday.

In that group are the big men, 6-6 John Dudley at center and 6-5 Larry Muldrew at one forward, with the other three spots taken up by guards Parker Powell, Ronnie Massanelli, and David Briggs.

Junior forward Charles Rattliff has a sprained ankle and will not play, and Lee Davis left the squad earlier in the week for personal reasons.

To beat Lincoln, Hope must work the ball inside to the big men, shoot well from the outside, get a good share of rebounds, and stay out of foul trouble. The defensive work is still improving but part of defense is controlling the ball on offense.

Also, the Bobcats will have to forget about running with the Tigers, which would not work. A slow, deliberate but steady and successful start by Hope would rattle the impatient Lincoln squad, firmly intent on running and running and running.

It should be good, but the same will hold tomorrow night when the Arkadelphia Badgers come to Jones Field House, with a "B" game beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Of course, Arkadelphia still remembers the 14-7 football loss to Hope which ruined the Badgers' perfect season in the final regular game. That should add to the tenseness, plus the fact that several of Arkadelphia squad members played football too.

Passing quarterback Bill Vining is the 6-2 postman of the Badgers, and pass-catching end Bill Hurley is a respected 6-1 forward. Freddie Lookadoo and Jerry Copeland are also starters, plus a few transfers from consolidated Peake High.

The victory boosted the Bobcats to within four games of Western Division-leading New Orleans, which was idle Thursday night.

Elsewhere in the ABA, Kentucky stymied New York 132-124; Carolina overturned Indiana 100-93 and Miami swamped Pittsburgh 146-121.

Yale College Considers It a Victory

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite being placed on two years' probation by the National Collegiate Athletic Association for its willing and continued use of a basketball player declared ineligible by the nation's two largest college sports groups, Yale University today considered itself a moral victor.

"It is important to record that Jack Langer was not penalized in any way," Henry Chauncey Jr., special assistant to the president of Yale, said Thursday night after the school was punished for not backing the NCAA in its latest power struggle with the Amateur Athletic Union.

Langer, a 6-foot-8 reserve center, had become a pawn in the battle between the NCAA and AAU for control over amateur basketball in the United States.

He was ruled ineligible by the NCAA and its affiliate, the Eastern College Athletic Conference, for participating—even though he had Yale's permission—in the Maccabiah Games in Tel Aviv last summer.

Although other Maccabiah sports had NCAA approval, basketball was not sanctioned in another effort to persuade the AAU to give up its fight.

The two-year probation means Yale cannot participate in any NCAA championships or post-season meets and tournaments and is ineligible to appear on any national television program or series administered by the NCAA.

The NCAA Council, the national group's policy making body and the committee which handed out the probation, also reprimanded and censured the prestigious Ivy League institution and said that before the probation expires Jan. 15, 1972, the NCAA's infractions committee will review Yale's athletic policies and practices.

Although Yale said it considered the probation a harsh penalty—Florida State's basketball team was given the same punishment for severe recruiting violations—there was no word on whether Yale would appeal the decision.

The NCAA's action, however, may have eased the pressure on members undoubtedly would quit the ECAC to punish Yale.

Tar Heels Clobber Clemson

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

What can you say about Charlie Scott?
"What can I say about Charlie Scott?" said Coach Bobby Roberts of Clemson. "He hurts you in so many ways, not just his shooting."

Roberts also could have said, "Great Scott," after the North Carolina show-stopper did everything but hawk popcorn Thursday night as he led the seventh-ranked Tar Heels over Clemson 96-91 in college basketball.

Get a load of this: Clemson held a 72-67 lead with 9:43 left in the game when the All-American guard had a hand in 11 of the next 13 baskets the Tar Heels scored.

Passing magically and pocketing eight of them himself, Scott finished with 23 points in the last half, and 35 for the game. The last-minute scoring blitz fired North Carolina to its close-call victory over the sky-high Tigers.

North Carolina State, the nation's 11th-ranked team, downed East Carolina 100-81 in the only other game involving a Top Twenty team Thursday night.

Elsewhere, Georgia Tech thumped Furman 88-61; Miami blasted Centenary 94-78; Penn State upset Temple 65-57; Manhattan tripped Roanoke 85-80; Wake Forest whipped Virginia 89-79; Wyoming stopped Colorado State 88-87; Utah State spilled Brigham Young 97-94; Tulsa beat Oklahoma City 101-86; Virginia Tech downed Richmond 66-57; Texas El-Paso defeated Arizona 73-59 and New Mexico stopped Arizona State 97-86.

Roberts felt "this was our best game so far," and North Carolina Coach Dean Smith would have to agree with him. "We are fortunate to escape with a victory tonight," said Smith. "They (Clemson) outplayed us on the boards. Scott's

Yerger Juniors Sweep Past Willisville

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

Unable to overcome a severe height disadvantage, the Hope Yerger Junior Bobkittens were chilled 52-27 by the Arkadelphia Goza Beavers at Jones Field House last night.

It was the fourth straight loss for the Kittens, now 4-6 for the season, and Yerger will take on Camden Lincoln's juniors here at 6:30 p.m. tonight.

Actually, Hope stayed in it well into the second quarter, working carefully to find sharp-shooting guard Buddy Ingram for open shots, and keeping from turnovers and bad shots.

Arkadelphia trailed most of the first period, but led 13-11 at its close. It remained tight until Yerger went cold while trailing 21-18 two minutes before the half.

Some quick breaks and outside shooting pummeled the Beavers to a 28-18 halftime spread, but the visitors quickly put the game the jumpers of Mack Harris as the third quarter progressed.

Ingram meshed 20 points for the Bobkittens, Donald Livey had four, Wade Harris two, and Jay Barrentine added a free throw. Mack Harris sank 19 and Alvin Hill eight for the Beavers.

Arkadelphia won the prelim 8th grade game 43-17 after leading 18-6 at the half. It was the second loss for the Yerger team in as many outings.

The NCAA plan it didn't necessarily mean that league schools would have to schedule 10 games.

"It obviously would bring in extra income, but how much I wouldn't know," Grubbs said. "I don't believe it would hurt other sports. Most schools have an open date they could plan on. Or they could delay the season a week."

Word spread in Washington Thursday that Texas and Penn State would meet Sept. 12 at University Park, Pa., on nationwide television with each school receiving $180,000.

Outstanding Fighter Award to Frazier

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Frazier, who holds a share of the disputed world heavyweight boxing title, was named today as winner of the Edward J. Neil Memorial Award as the outstanding fighter of 1969.

The annual award by the Boxing Writers Association is named in honor of Neil, former Associated Press boxing writer who was killed in Spain in 1938 while covering the Civil War.

Frazier, 27, is unbeaten in 24 professional starts since winning the Olympic heavyweight championship at Tokyo in 1964. Recognized in six states and some foreign nations as champ, he will defend his share against Jimmy Ellis, the World Boxing Association titleholder, Feb. 16 at Madison Square Garden.

Although Frazier had only two fights in 1969, a one-round knockout over Dave Zygiewicz in Houston, April 22, and a seventh-round technical knockout over Jerry Quarry, June 23, the writers considered his performance both in and out of the ring as outstanding and worthy of the award that went to light heavyweight champ Bob Foster last year.

The only other boxer nominated was Jose Napoleles, the welterweight champ who is Cuban-born but now resides in Mexico.

Bob Hope Visits
GIs—a Symbol of American Dedication

We salute Bob Hope, the National Broadcasting Co., and the Chrysler Corporation for Thursday night's telecast of the Hope troupe's Christmas visit to America's armed forces in Vietnam.

However you feel about this one war Americans got a dedication to their country and all wars that she may become involved in. It's a dedication inherent for our country, and despite the division and clamor on the home front this dedication soared to new heights as the nation watched her boys greet Hope and his company—with their message from Home.

For, as Hope told the television audience, it wasn't a question of the morale of the men at the front—what the fighting men worried about was the morale of the folks back home.

The Hope Christmas tour by its very presence gave a reassuring answer to our fellow Americans in a distant land.

It represents something new to the American nation—but old in the annals of history, and familiar to other nations which held world-wide power before our day.

The spectacle of government ordering fighting men to far places, and the fighting men wondering wistfully if the people back home were still with them. But of course the people back home are still with them, and always will be. There never has been a war that didn't provoke some dissent back home—but we wouldn't be a nation, and a world power at that, if, once committing men to battle, we didn't back them all the way.

Hope's closing message to the troops was a laymen's prayer. He told them he thought this might be his last overseas tour—and that by another Christmas he could possibly visit them at a place no more foreign than Palm Springs, Calif.—a prayer which all America repeats after him.

Ask State Regulation Fish Farms

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Representatives of the Arkansas Fish Farmers Association asked the state Constitutional Convention Thursday to put fish farmers under control of the Arkansas Livestock and Poultry Commission.

Fish farming is regulated by the state Game and Fish Commission and the commission director, Andrew Hulse, asked the convention to keep fish farming within the commission's jurisdiction.

The opposing viewpoints were at a public hearing conducted by the convention's Executive Branch Committee.

Charles Files of Hunter, president of the association, said the commission had "promulgated regulations which are a hindrance to the growth of this industry."

Jetport for Everglades Is Banned

MIAMI (AP) — An agreement hailed by President Nixon as a great victory for conservationists has halted plans to build a jetport for Miami in the Everglades.

On hand to sign the pact today were Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe, Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel and Gov. Claude Kirk.

Dade County (Miami) commissioners cleared the way for the three-sided agreement by giving their approval Thursday.

The agreement bans development of any airport that could pose a threat to the Everglades National Park, and sets up anti-pollution safe guards for a $14 million, two-mile training runway already built by the Dade County Port Authority at the controversial site 4½ miles west of Miami.

The government, which stepped into the controversy after conservationists attacked the jetport as a threat to the park's wildlife, agreed to permit use of the runway as a training facility until a new jetport site is chosen. Equivalent facilities will then be constructed at federal expense.

Jumbo Jet Ferry Begins Next Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The jumbo jetliners start flying commercially this month and officials at many of the nation's major airports and some in Europe say they are ready for them.

Pan American World Airways plans to inaugurate Boeing 747 service next Wednesday with a New York-to-London flight. Trans World Airlines starts 747 service Feb. 25 with a flight from New York to Los Angeles.

Pan Am and TWA together expect to have a total of 40 of the 355-ton planes in the air by the end of the year. By the end of 1971, 28 of the world's airlines expect to be flying 186 of the whale-shaped planes which carry up to 490 passengers.

An Associated Press survey shows that major U.S. airports and those in such cities as London, Paris, Rome and Hong Kong are deep in enlarging and remodeling projects. Officials say some of these airports—although already overcrowded—are ready to handle the first few of the planes and that they expect to keep pace as the number of 747s in service grows.

Most construction and remodeling projects are scheduled for completion by or during 1971.

Airports where officials say they are now ready for the first 747s include Kennedy in New York, Los Angeles International, O'Hare in Chicago, Logan in Boston, Dulles near Washington, D.C., Dade County in Miami and Atlanta, and London and Paris, the survey shows.

In general, airports are extending and buttressing runways and building new ones, enlarging and erecting terminals, readying new docking gates, improving baggage handling facilities, and improving and building parking lots.

The 231-foot long 747 is the largest commercial airliner in history, 80 feet longer than its predecessor, the Boeing 707. It has a tail more than six stories high and holds 46,770 gallons of fuel—enough to run the average family car for almost 60 years—for its four engines.

It can carry 350 to 490 passengers—twice as many as the largest jetliner now in service. The interior cabin is 20 feet wide and passengers sit nine abreast, separated by two aisles that run the length of the aircraft. The plane has 12 restrooms and even a "penthouse" lounge on an upper deck near the nose. It cruises at 584 miles per hour.

Morris Sloane, Kennedy's general manager, said containerized baggage, loaded by $1,500 cargo dollies and hauled by $125,000 tow trucks, is expected to speed operations. Placing of many pieces of luggage in single containers means they can be taken off the aircraft to baggage claim areas in much swifter time than for smaller planes. One baggage superintendent predicted that with containerization, 700 pieces of luggage could be loaded or unloaded in 20 minutes.

World Becoming Too Dangerous; Safest Place Is Your Home

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Man in the future will become much more of a homebody if the daydream of Alfie Windfall comes true.

Alfie, who earns a munificent salary writing toothpaste ads, explained his plan the other morning as we jolted into town on a suburban train.

"The world outside the home is getting too dangerous and inconvenient," he remarked. "It is time for smart people to start spending their lives at home."

"How's that?"

"Well, cities today have become anachronistic," said Alfie. "The air is polluted by automobiles driving around looking for a parking place that isn't there, and you have to stand in line to buy anything from lunch to a pair of socks."

"By day cities are a nuisance, and by night they are a danger, full of muggers, insolent hucksters, and people who want to charge you $15 or more to see a LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Separation of issues may be a dead issue at the state Constitutional Convention.

A majority of delegates polled earlier in the week indicated they preferred to submit the new constitution to the voters without alternatives.

Many delegates, however, express fear of a double-negative vote. That's a case where a persons would vote against the entire new constitution because he vigorously opposed to only one proposal in it.

The new constitution will be submitted to voters in the November general election and, if approved, would replace the state's 1874 Constitution.

During the convention's five-month recess, some delegates suggested the proposed constitution would have a better chance of being approved if voters were allowed to vote separately on some of the more controversial issues.

Some feel, however, that supporters of the separate-issue idea would have a difficult time finding enough votes among delegates to get an issue separated from the main body of the proposed document.

One theory is that many of the delegates would not object to offering usury as a separate provision but not the right-to-work provision. The theory continues that they would be willing to give up the idea of submitting usury separately to be certain that right-to-work remains intact.

It seems certain there will be attempts made during the convention's final weeks to offer at least those two issues separately. Both are in the general provisions section of the proposed document and will not be considered until late in the 30-day session which began Monday.

"City life actually has become a form of oppression to the spirit of man. Cities were originally designed to serve man, but now man serves the city. They crowd him, destroy his dignity, and make him nervous and violent."

"Why do I have to go to a cubicle in the city to write toothpaste ads?" argued Alfie. "I can write them just as well at home while I'm sitting on the sun porch drinking a martini and getting a suntan."

Side Issues on Charter Turned Down

By G. DAVID WALLACE

WASHINGTON (AP) — As far as consumer champions outside the government are concerned, Virginia Knauer is in enemy hands.

Mrs. Knauer, President Nixon's special assistant for consumer affairs, lost her usually persistent smile several times Thursday at the Consumer Assembly while speakers alternately attacked her boss and praised her.

"Let us look forward to the liberation of Virginia Knauer," said Bess Myerson Grant, New York City's commissioner for consumer affairs.

The audience responded with applause, just as it had earlier when consumer advocate Ralph Nader said: "Let us concede that the consumer movement has received far less attention from the President than the Texas football team or any host of golfers, comedians and actors who have had many hours of his valuable time."

And at another point in the assembly, sponsored by the 143 organizations making up the Consumer Federation of America, Democratic Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Texas observed that Mrs. Knauer early in the legislative year had supported the general idea of power for consumers to band together in "class action" lawsuits. Such lawsuits would permit a group of consumers to sue manufacturers for damages on behalf of all purchasers of a product.

President Nixon later announced, with Mrs. Knauer's public support, the administration bill would permit class action only in 11 specified areas of fraud and only after the Justice Department had completed successful action against a violator.

Despite Mrs. Knauer's affirmations of support for the administration position, Nixon's critics contended she had been forced to swallow a bitter pill to get the bill past other White House advisers.

"We are disturbed and depressed when we hear that the White House staff and assistants have been permitted to water down Mrs. Knauer's legislative proposals," said Mrs. Grant. "She deserves our strong support, and we require her independence."

Earlier in the program Mrs. Knauer had pledged the Nixon administration "to assure the American consumer a full measure of the justice, safety, and adequate redress necessary to make a prudent choice."

Seated at the speaker's dais with Mrs. Grant and Nader, Mrs. Knauer made no comment. But she has insisted repeatedly in the past that she has the President's support and has cited as an example her victory over the Agriculture Department in the battle to set limits on fat content in hot dogs.

Nader, Mrs. Grant and other speakers urged leaders to launch a new phase of the consumer movement: A fight to insure enforcement of recently enacted laws and the assumption of an active role in the controversy over the quality of the environment.

Charges of first-degree murder were filed Thursday in Circuit Court in two unrelated shooting deaths.

Deputy Prosecutor James R. Howard filed the charges.

One was against Arthola Wiley, 28, of Little Rock in the death Dec. 26 of Walter Leroy Lantzer, 22.

The other was against George Riley, 64, of College Station in the death Dec. 21 of his wife, Mrs. Annie Lee Riley, 49.

No bond was set in the case.

Production Stalls and Prices Rise, Sending Inflation Into Gallop

By JOHN M. PEARCE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Production since 1951, the Gross National Product jumped to $932.3 billion in 1969, with most of the increase resulting from soaring prices.

The Commerce Department reported Thursday the GNP rose $66.6 billion from the 1968 figure of $865.7 billion. Of the 7.75 per cent yearly increase, price increases accounted for about 4.75 per cent and real production for the remaining 3 per cent. In 1968 the increase was 9 per cent—4 per cent prices and 5 per cent real output.

GNP is the market value of all the goods and services produced in the country and, when compared to the value of the dollar in 1958, gives a clear indication of the rate of inflation.

The department's report also showed real production made almost no change during the October-December quarter, which on its face indicated the nation may be teetering on the brink of its fifth post-World War II recession.

But two prominent government economists cautioned against such a conclusion because a strike against the General Electric Co.—the nation's fifth largest corporation—cut about $2 billion off of total production in the last two months.

Without the strike, they said, real production might have gone up a moderate 1 per cent in the last quarter. The figures for one quarter are important, because a recession is defined as two consecutive quarters of declining real production.

The department said 1969 was characterized by "a gradual slowing in the expansion" as a result of the Nixon administration's anti-inflation campaign.

As evidence, it cited the declining real production increases—2½ per cent in the first quarter, declining to 2 per cent in the second and third and none in the fourth.

New Troop Pull-Out by Summer

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird's disclosure of a bigger cut in total U.S. armed forces indicates the likelihood of another sizable troop withdrawal from Vietnam by midsummer.

It also could mean a further reduction in the draft.

Speaking in Los Angeles Thursday, Laird said over-all U.S. military manpower will be down by about 300,000 men by June.

This is about 35,000 more than the force reduction Laird projected for this fiscal year at a news conference here last month.

At that time, Laird linked his projection to President Nixon's latest order calling for a pull-back of some 50,000 more U.S. troops from Vietnam by April 15.

Slashes in the size of the nation's armed forces have been tied closely to the paced withdrawal of American troops from the war.

Thus, Laird's hike in the anticipated reduction in over-all U.S. armed manpower suggests accompanying additional pull-backs.

Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson revealed at the same time that the total VA funds expended in the State of Arkansas during the same period amounted to about $120,600,818, of which $76,353,172 was in compensation and pension payments.

Funds spent in Hempstead County, Mr. Hudson said, also included $42,053 for readjustment and vocational rehabilitation; $57,458 for insurance and indemnities; $96,600 in direct loans.

According to Mr. Hudson, the VA is the third largest Federal agency and operates the largest (166) hospital network in the free world, as well as administering one of the biggest insurance programs in the nation.

Richard Lee Graves, 38, a resident of a Nashville hotel, was killed early Wednesday morning by a Missouri Pacific train between Oms and Washington, Graves was last seen alive about 9:30 p.m. Tuesday night at the Rest Home.

Pine Bluff Delay Is Challenged

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Negro plaintiffs filed notice Thursday in U.S. District Court that they would appeal the decision by Judge Oren Harris giving the Pine Bluff School Board until fall to complete elimination of a dual school system.

Harris ordered the board to start conversion to a unitary, nonracial system at the start of the second semester Jan. 26 and to finish the task in the fall.

The judge said the board could no longer use the freedom-of-choice desegregation method.

The appeal of the decision contends that the dual system should be abolished completely on Jan. 26.

The case is carried by the appeal to the 8th U.S. Circuit

Ship Called "Typhoid Carrier"

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — The deputy city medical health officer said Thursday that any decision to sail the luxury liner Oronsay out of Vancouver before medical tests are completed could turn it into "a floating typhoid bomb."

Dr. George Mott, the officer, said the typhoid situation aboard the liner is under control as long as the ship remains in port.

"But if it leaves port before the source is identified and without medical care for the patients, there is a problem," he said.

With the number of known and suspected cases of the disease now 34, George Turner, president of P&O Lines (North America) Ltd., said the ship will be kept here for four or five days.

"If they decide to leave," said Dr. Mott, "then we will not permit them to take on the 300 passengers who were to embark here. I think P&O will cooperate."

Meanwhile, federal health officials continued a series of tests among the 1,500 passengers and crew to find the possible carrier of the disease, which causes intestinal irritation, high fever and diarrhea.

Dr. Mott said the results of these tests would not be known until late today or Saturday.

To Review 2-Term Provision

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Constitutional Convention voted Thursday to reconsider its earlier decision to allow an individual to serve in succession two terms of four years as governor.

Earlier in the day, the delegates defeated an attempt to limit a governor to a single four-year term.

Reconsideration of the provision allowing two terms is due in today's session.
